

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXI.

STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1894.

NO. 92

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—Miss Sidney Standfill closed her school near Pleasant View last Tuesday.

—Mrs. John L. Whitehead gave a dinner last Friday to a number of her married friends.

—If any train robbery was attempted in our county last Thursday night no one here has ever heard of it. The grand jury is in session and certainly if it is a fact some of our officers would have heard something about it.

—Thursday John Moore and George Parker began a scuffle in fun but before it was over became angry and Moore cut Parker in the arm with his knife. Drs. Adkins and Finley dressed the wound and he is doing well.

—In the death of Captain R. L. Myers Whitley county loses one of her best citizens. Although he had not been with us long those who knew him loved him. He would have been 75 years old Jan. 20, and leaves a wife and six children to mourn his death.

—Court is progressing nicely and Judge Morrow will get the docket well cleaned up this court. There are no very important cases to try but a long docket of misdemeanor cases and small civil suits. Wm. Rains was sent to the pen one year for house breaking.

—Mr. D. P. Whitsett returned from Penn., last week where he has been on business. Col. W. O. Bradley and Judge Alcorn were with us last week attending court, also C. C. Williams and Judge McClure, of Mt. Vernon, Judge James H. Tinsley and John Hays, of Barbourville. Mr. John B. Fish, of Pineville, is visiting the family of Mr. E. F. Arthur.

—The M. E. church revival closed last week with 31 additions. This makes about 200 additions to the churches of Williamsburg in the last four months. Rev. J. N. Prestidge is preaching a series of sermons to young people especially on Sunday evening. The Christian Endeavor Societies of this section will hold an annual meeting here sometime in February.

—Rev. W. J. Johnson, who was for three years pastor of the Baptist church at this place and the first principal of the Williamsburg Institute, died at the home of Simeon Hambuck near Georgetown last Sunday morning. Mr. Johnson had been in bad health for a long time and his death was not unexpected. He leaves a wife and one child. Dr. A. Gatfield and J. P. Mahan of this place attended his funeral, which took place Monday.

Christian College Notes.

[ADV.]

—Additional rooms have been fitted and furnished in Christian College, so now a few more boarders can be accommodated.

—Lewis Francis, of Jellico, entered Christian College on Monday. Seventeen pupils have entered since Christmas, and many more are expected.

—Mr. Geo. Stone, of Liberty, paid a short visit to his niece, Miss Amanda Stone, on Monday. Mr. Stone is an accomplished gentleman, and one of the best lawyers in this part Ky.

—Miss Mollie Harman paid the College a call on Monday. She has just closed a most prosperous school at Jellico. Miss Mollie enjoys an enviable reputation as a teacher, and intelligent lady.

—The School of Method, for teachers, will open on Jan. 22nd. All who want to fit themselves for examination, and thorough school work, should not fail to attend. The Course embraces everything taught in public schools.

—Miss Mary A. Thomson has accepted a position in C. O., and will begin her work on Jan. 22d, beginning of 2nd term. Miss Mary taught in Christian College for several years, and also in Daughters College, when that once famed institution of learning, was enjoying its meridian glory. She will be gladly welcomed back to the scene of her most efficient labors. As a teacher, and as a disciplinarian, she ranks among the best in Kentucky.

REMEMBER.—That the Wisconsin Central has the unqualified endorsement of all, it being the most popular line between Chicago and Milwaukee and St. Paul, Minneapolis and the Northwest it is recognized as the Pullman Line between Chicago and Milwaukee and Ashland, Duluth and Lake Superior points. That the Wisconsin Central touches the most prominent points in Wisconsin, having more business centers than any railway to and from the Northwest. That its dining car service is unsurpassed by any other line, and that its representatives will cheerfully furnish any information that may be desired. For full details regarding Rates, Routes, Folders, Maps etc. address your nearest ticket agent or Jas. C. Pond, Gen. Pass. Agent, Milwaukee, Wis.

—Nine persons were killed and about 50 injured by a rear-end collision on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, near Hackensack, N. J. Two of the injured died and others are fatally injured. One train was stopped in a fog. It is claimed the other was flagged, but the signal was seen too late to stop the train.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—An adjourned session of the quarterly court was held Monday.

—In the police court Jim Wiggle was fined $10 and Joe Stodgill and Wm. Wallace $5 each for being drunk and disorderly.

—Wood Brothers have about completed their distillery on the new Danville pike near town and will begin mashing on the first of February.

—Drs. Ross, and Robert Barnside have located in Lancaster and opened an office over Stormes' drug store. They will occupy the Joe Weisiger residence on Lexington street.

—An effort is being made to establish a lodge of the Knights of Honor in Lancaster, and the promoters are meeting with much success. About forty petitions have been secured thus far.

—Suit was filed by Gen. Landram, attorney, in the circuit court on the 17th inst., asking for a sale of 60 acres of land in the edge of town claimed by the heirs of Abner Baker under the provisions of his will.

—Mr. Hiram R. Hiatt died at the residence of Mrs. H. C. Kauffman this (Thursday) morning about 5 o'clock. He had a severe case of pneumonia, but got out too soon and had a relapse, which proved fatal. No arrangements have been made yet as to the burial. He leaves a wife and four children.

—Tuesday's Courier Journal stated that Gov. McCreary had called at the department in Washington and made a recommendation for postmaster at Lancaster. The dispatch did not state who the lucky one was, but the general impression is that Mr. James Hamilton will be named in a few days. The commission of Miss Ella Watson the present incumbent will expire on the 15th of next month.

—Misses Mary and Georgia Miller entertained a few of their young friends Monday evening. Col. W. S. Ferguson was here this week and returned to Covington to-day. Mr. J. Mort Rotnwell has returned from Missouri. Col. G. T. Mason has returned to Chicago. Mrs. Gresham has gone to Texas to spend several months. Miss Smith, of Winchester, is the guest of Miss Minnie Elliott. Miss Lula Bryant is visiting in Chicago. Mrs. Boden, nee Miss Lizzie Walker is visiting her aunt Mrs. Geo. Denny.

—The question has been pertinently asked whether or not statesmanship is not a thing of the past. Politicians are as thick as the leaves of the forest and the woods are full of men claiming to possess the qualities necessary to a just comprehension of the conditions of the country and a remedy for the evils that beset it. It is unfortunate that a large majority of those who are masquerading under the guise of statesmen, regard the distribution of offices as the acme of political sagacity, and base their claims to public favor upon their success in that particular. The literary world is afflicted with a like brood of intellectual pretenders, who by sheer impudence are making the welking ring with their clamorous pretensions to greatness, while in truth and in fact there is not to-day a single poet or writer of fiction, with possibly a few exceptions, whose productions are worth the paper upon which they are printed. Bill Nye, Bret Harte, James Whitcomb Riley and others of like ilk, who regard bad spelling and a disregard of the rules of grammar as evidence of genius, are in the saddle and the howling of the wolves and barking of the prairie dogs of Colorado are not a circumstance to the noise they are keeping. James Whitcomb Riley aspires to be the Robert Burns of America. James has very greatly overestimated his ability and it is hardly necessary to say that for centuries after he has passed away and been forgotten, the fame of Robert Burns will be as bright and enduring as it is to-day.

"The frost is on the punkin
And the corn is in the shock"
Is a specimen of James Whitcomb's poetical genius worthy of a moment's consideration, simply from the fact that it calls attention to the season of the year, when pumpkin pies are in order and the corn is sheltered from the blast. Otherwise, it would be difficult to surmise what necessity there is for calling the attention of the poetry reading world to a physical fact that was apparent to farmers and tillers of the soil generally.

—A suggestion has been made looking to an organization of the "Sons of Confederate Veterans," similar to that now in existence known as "Sons of Federal Veterans." The necessity for the existence of organizations of this kind by either the sons of Federals or Confederates is not at all apparent and the propriety of the same is, to say the least exceedingly questionable. We are at peace with ourselves, and as General Taylor said in his message, "with the rest of mankind." If we should become involved in a war, the probabilities are that the sons of veterans would not be called upon to do all the fighting, and that the most of those who were called upon to bear arms would not be related in any way to a veteran of either army. It will not do to assume that the patriotism of the people is confined to the sons of veterans, nor would it be safe to entrust the interests of the country simply to their hands. A son of a veteran might prove to be a son-of-a-gun, or something else, and an unworthy descendant of a patriotic sire. But the question is pertinent, why stop at an organization of the sons of veterans? Why not have step sons, grand-sons, great-grand sons, first, second and third cousins of veterans? And why should not these numerous relatives be required to do whatever fighting is necessary in defense of the country, on account of their relationship to those who have displayed their valor upon the field of battle? With a plume in his helmet and a sword at his knee, a cousin of a veteran could strut the streets with impunity and bid the boys and colored folks clear the track and make way for his coming! For if not a hero himself, he is a distant relative of one, and as such is entitled to be obeyed and respected accordingly. But seriously, do not such organizations help to keep alive a recollection of events that ought to be forgotten? We are one people, living under the same constitution and laws; all equally interested in the maintenance of the government, and there is no reason to doubt the patriotism of the men of the South if their services should ever be needed in the field. "The Union, one and inseparable," should be inscribed upon every banner, and its defenders should and would come from North, South, East and West alike.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

—By a vote of 52 to 32 the House refused a third reading of the bill to increase the jurisdiction of magistrate's courts to $200.

—An act making the carrying of concealed weapons a felony, punishable by confinement in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than three years, is before the House.

—Hon. Harvey Helm's bill requiring the officers of incorporated turnpikes to make regular reports and settlements with the county court was debated at length and passed by the House.

—Mr. Hay's bill to create the office of "Kentucky Dairy and Food Commissioner," at a salary of $1,200 a year, was reported adversely and was refused a second reading, as it should have been.

—Notwithstanding the adverse report of the committee a second reading was given to Mr. Beckner's bill to relieve married women of the property disabilities of coverture. Mr. Helm made a speech against the bill.

—In response to a resolution of inquiry, Auditor Norman told the House that his clerical force numbers nine persons, who draw salaries amounting to $13,700. The inquiry was made because he wants to increase the expense $2,000.

—Gov. Brown has nominated for appointment as members of the Board of Commissioners of the Kentucky Institution for the Education of Deaf Mutes for a term of six years from Jan. 10, 1894 Joseph H. Thomas, James L. Allen, S. V. Rowland and L. W. Hudson.

DANVILLE.

(Advocate.)

—Julia, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Joen W. Redd, died after a long illness.

—Alex Prather, the negro, who broke into Ruten's store at Junction City, was given 10 years in the pen.

—Mr. Lucien M. Gregory, of Washington county, and Miss Sallie L. Ewing, of Boyle, were married Wednesday.

—The city authorities, in order to be prepared for a possible invasion of small pox, have opened two vaccination stations.

—The grass is growing, birds singing, and peach and maple buds swelling as though it was spring-time. Fruit men are fearful of the consequences if this warm weather keeps up.

—R. D. Bruce sold his crop of tobacco in Louisville at from $3.50 to $15.75 per hundred. He had 13,000 pounds, which he raised on nine acres of land, bringing $150 per acre. Farris & Whitley bought several lots of 2-year-old cattle at 3 to 3½c.

—Nineteen cases against W. K. Vowells, of Lexington, charging him with violating the local option laws, were dismissed. Vowells is the Lexington agent of a Cincinnati brewery and sold beer to parties in Danville, the money to be collected on delivery by the express agent here. The judge decided that the sale was made in Lexington, the superior court having held that way.

—Prof. J. B. Walton was so much pleased with Colorado Springs that he has decided to move there permanently. His daughter, Miss Jennie, who was taken there for her health, has apparently fully recovered but the doctors say she should remain. The professor has resigned the principalship of Centre College Academy, to the regret of every one. He will have a private school at his new home. The academy will be re-organized with Prof. Ruple as Principal, and Messrs. J. E. Turner and Wm. J. Price, as assistants.

—A Cincinnati girl has just died from erysipelas produced by having her ears pierced.

LIBERTY.

—License was issued to Mr. Millard F. Kindred to marry Miss Eliza E. Gilpin on the 15th.

—Dr. J. G. Bosley, of Lebanon, who has a reputation of extracting teeth with out pain, has been with us this week.

—Married at Prescott's hotel, on the 16th, by Elder J. Q. Montgomery, John B. Allen to Miss Mary Taylor of Yosemite.

—Miss Alice Williams, from Junction City, and Miss Belle Coulter from Middleburg, were visiting their cousin, Mrs. James Gibony, last week.

—D. G. Portman and O. H. Bowman are preparing to run a store on Casey's Creek. Liberty has had her full quota of drummers for the last few days.

—W. W. Wilkinson went to Atlanta, Georgia, with a car load of mules last week. Judge Myers started to the same place with another car load on Monday evening the 15th.

—Last Sunday was regular meeting day at the Christian church. A good size audience was in attendance to hear a very able sermon as usual from Elder J. Q. Montgomery.

—McClelland Wheat resigned as sheriff of Casey county lately, and A. J. Gibony, being appointed to fill his place, was sworn in on Monday. He will still retain Deputy A. P. Young.

—Ciel Randolph was brought before Judge Myers on the 15th for examination for shooting at a party on Shuck's Creek Christmas night. The examination was continued until the 27th, on account of one of the wounded, Geo. Lane being unable to attend.

—The venerable A. T. Royalty, 88 years old, has been sick lately but is now up and going around. He was postmaster for 32 years, having held the position as long as able to attend to its duties, when he voluntarily gave it up. He was one of the first settlers of Liberty.

—The new hotel, though not fully equipped with furniture yet, is running as its predecessor did in days of yore. Though it has very much improved architectural surroundings, yet it is assuming its old homelike welcome appearance. Harry Rains presides with ability as clerk; Isaac Sweeney, of color, one of the ancient fixtures, is again at his post and making himself generally useful.

—George E. Stone, after a week's absence in Louisville, returned home on Monday. R. T. Pierce will visit the city on business soon. William Whipp left Monday morning for Owensboro, where he expects to make his future home. An old colored man, Fields Crawford, died of dropsy Monday night. Charlie Sharp, who has lain so long and has been so low with typhoid fever, is now unmistakably improving with flattering prospects of an early recovery.

—Candidates are now stirring around for the forthcoming contest. Not many candidates on the democratic side are yet spoken of. In the republican ranks we have the following: For county attorney, the present incumbent, Q. Clay Godbey, and M. E. Tarter; for county judge, ex-Judge Wm. E. Rains and Esquire John M. Tilford; for county clerk, W. T. Humphrey and Dr. I. C. Dye, John Henry Thomas of Dunnville is rumored to be a candidate, but we have no notice of the fact. For sheriff Wm. Clay Adams, a late efficient deputy, has consented to make the race if his party so nominates. For assessor we hear of no aspirant as yet on the republican side. On the democratic side we are informed that the present bustling incumbent, H. L. Davenport, is a candidate for re-election. We understand that the republicans will decide the matter sometime in March by primary election.

A COMMUNICATION.—There are more loafers in Stanford than the law allows. What's the matter with a "vagrancy sale" to dispose of the surplus? Men who toil not, neither do they spin, have been otherwise than ornamental to the street corners of this progressive city for many consecutive years, the exact number of which the oldest inhabitant is not on to. Through the columns of the INTERIOR JOURNAL allow the attention of the proper authorities to be called to the propriety and extreme necessity of a "vagrancy sale" at once. FORTY-THREE VOTERS.

L. M. L., submits this solution of the Hawaiian troubles: I recommend to President Cleveland to ship Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge to Hawaii to settle the matter as best as he and the authorities can, and issue a proclamation disclaiming all further responsibility for, and interest either in Breckinridge or the island.

—Edward Dunbar, once a noted evangelist, and author of the hymn, "There's a Light in the Window for Thee," died last week in the Coffeyville (Kan.) jail, where he had applied for lodgings as a tramp.

—The King's Daughters, at Bowling Green, found a family in destitute circumstances and gave them several dollars with which to buy coal. Instead of buying coal the needy family went to a photograph gallery and had their pictures taken.

ALBERT HOMMEL, Rowland, Ky.

In the rejection of the nomination of Mr. Hornblower for justice of the supreme court, Senator Hill has shown that in the House of the Lords, he is a bigger man than President Cleveland, but we doubt if his victory will be worth the effort he has made. The Senate sustained the adverse report of the committee by a majority of six. Senator Hill did not claim that the appointment was not worthy or qualified; he simply urged that unless the president was checked in making appointments without consulting the Senators of the states most interested in the Senatorial prerogative would be completely overturned. Again he urged the Senators to stand up for their rights, unawed by power or fear of judicial wrath. He succeeded in carrying his point, but the act will bring him into further odium. The people do not admire the acts of a man, who is governed only by spite and a desire to get even with the one, who beat him so far out of sight, when he went before the people.

WHENEVER there is a chance to create more offices some politician is always ready to rush in with a bill to that end. Senator Adair has accepted the suggestion of Gov. Brown and offered a bill to create a board of prison commissioners to have entire charge and control of the penitentiary and to be allowed $2,000 a year and $500 traveling expenses each. The duties are now performed by the sinking fund committee, and should continue to be. Gov. Brown recommended the change because he as one of the committee, could not run it to suit his own ends.

SOME of the Washington correspondents are trying to show that Miss Polard discounts old Eve herself in leading men into temptation. A dispatch to the Louisville Commercial says that Carlisle received a note from her one day asking him to meet her, in a way and at a time and place to leave no doubt that her intentions were unduly kind. Miss Polard may be a bad woman but she certainly appears to be a woman of more sense than to give herself away unnecessarily.

A cow is generally speaking a meek and humble looking animal, but she has frequently been the cause of great disasters. She kicked over the Widow Murphy's lamp at Chicago and involved that city in one of the greatest conflagrations of the century and Sunday in Cuba she threw a train off the track and down a 200 feet embankment, killing 16 persons and injuring nine others. It won't do always to trust to appearances. They are often very deceitful.

THE State superintendent of public instruction endorses the compulsory education bill before the House and has sent out circulars asking expressions of opinion on the subject. We are free to say that while we believe all children should be given a chance to obtain an education, it smacks too much of paternalism in government to attempt to assume the rights that are inherent in the parents. It would be well to let such a law severely alone.

UNDER the law of escheats, the property of the late Thomas H. Blythe, of California, will doubtless revert to the State. The governor has ordered suit to that end, as the title to the property has failed for want of heirs or next of kin. As the estate is valued at four millions of dollars, it will be a big thing for the State. It is passing strange though that somebody hasn't been found to show good title for so much money.

JUDGE TOM VARNON was always a warm advocate of emasculation for rape, believing that such a law would be a greater deterrent than even death, as the victim would have to go through life despoiled of men and scorned by women. Senator Hays evidently is of the same opinion as the judge, for he has introduced a bill to that effect.

THE bill to relieve married women of the disabilities of coverture is having rather a rocky time in the House, as it should. The property and other rights of women are now amply sufficient and the law should not be further invoked to make the marriage tie a less sacred one.

THE drawings for the long and short terms among the Senators will occur March 1. We do not charge that Sang Digger Lay is a fool, though he has been awfully lucky, but we do wager that he will draw a long term. It would be exactly like him to do so.

THERE will be no Hornblower on the Supreme Bench. A man with such a patronymic hardly deserves a better fate. There is something after all in a name, even if a rose would smell as sweet by any other.

Jolly Jack Collier, of the Franklin Favorite, will be appointed postmaster of his town.

THERE now seems to be no doubt that the Lower House of Congress will pass the Wilson bill promptly on the day set for the vote. Among the beneficiaries that will follow the passage of the bill are enumerated: A break-up of many of the trusts; great fortunes will not be accumulated so rapidly; a more general and equitable distribution of wealth; more and steadier employment for labor and better wages; the necessities of life in the homes of the common people will be cheapened and the markets for all our surplus will be enlarged, and the cry of overproduction will be forever silenced.

THOUGH Secretary of State John W. Hay would like to be governor, he will baffle his ambition and only offer for his present position, which is made elective under the new constitution. Mr. Hay has not distinguished himself as a Secretary of State. On the contrary, the Louisville Commercial's cartoons that represent him as a Headless Pumpkin have very nearly hit the mark of his official calling. Upon what he bases his claims for re-election is problematical, but this is a free country and any darn fool can offer for office.

THE condition of the treasury is such that Secretary Carlisle could not wait for the slow process of a new law, so he gives notice of an issue of $50,000,000 5 per cent. 10 year bonds. Proposals are invited in sums of $50 and over. It is pretty tough that the government with all her revenues has to borrow money in these piping times of peace, but billion dollar Congresses and an insatiable pension horde can sap the vitals of the richest country.

THE managing editor of the Louisville Times, Mr. R. W. Brown, can not be tempted from his chosen profession by the flesh pots of office. He declined the appointment of assistant post-master of Louisville, and will continue to make the Times the brightest light in vespertine journalism.

OUR thanks are due Commissioner Urey Woodson for a copy of the annual report of the railroad commission, which was received last evening too late for the notice it deserves and which it will get in a subsequent issue.

THERE is now no doubt of Senator Lindsay's election according to the constitution. He was elected again this week by the Legislature.

NEWSY NOTES.

—Jennie Smith is on trial at St. Louis for biting a diamond out of a traveling salesman's shirt front.

—During the year ending November American railroads killed 2,319 persons and crippled 2,000 others.

—The town authorities required Mr. John Buchanan to fence the old corner lot upon which his hotel burned and he put up a temporary fence, which was found draped in mourning the next morning. Ward Moore says two of our oldest men did the work but we withhold names for the sake of the wives, but ask Ward for particulars.

—Our free school closes on the 26th and Prof. S. D. Willis will begin a subscription school right after its close. The teachers feel under many obligations to the trustees and patrons for encouragement given. The attendance has been large, and if any fault has been found the teachers have been spared (for the first time) the knowledge of same. I hope our people will show their appreciation of Prof. Willis as an impartial, and excellent instructor, by starting their children in at the beginning of his next term.

—We have often heard of persons being arrested for singing certain songs upon the streets, but we have never before heard of an officer molesting anyone for singing in a parlor. This was really done in our quiet little city last Sunday night. Two young bloods from a neighboring county called upon a couple of our fair sex, and were entertaining (?) them with, "After the Ball." The marshal who was standing just across the street marched over, entered the parlor, and "After the Ball" was immediately silenced. Whether or not that was his business there, we only have his word for it, as he said when asked what he was doing there. "Some boys were in there singing a song, that I thought was disturbing the peace I just stepped in to see about it." We would advise the young men who desire to entertain the belles by their sonorous voices, to learn some other song.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—The band boys are progressing nicely.

—The wife of John Parcell died Wednesday afternoon.

—There is not a vacant house in town. More buildings are badly needed.

—D. C. Poynter invoiced his stock of merchandise to H. W. Rice & Co., Monday.

—Speaking of the editor's picture which appeared in a late edition of the Courier-Journal, we have heard it complimented by several persons who had never seen that gentleman.

[What do they take us for, any way.]

—C. H. Rice is moving his saw mill from the Myers farm to Bethuram's, 2 miles south of town. H. W. Rice & Co. have bought some 3,000 acres of timbered land on Skagg's creek and are setting mills thereon.

—In the examining trials of the parties concerned in the shooting near Pine Hill Christmas, in which Isaac Mize lost his life and John Mullins was shot in the leg, the following named persons were held to answer, all of whom gave bond: Matt. Pike and John Griffin $250 each, and Ken Pike $500.

—Misses Mattie and Vennie Adams returned to Garrard with their father Tuesday. Three children of Canton Bloomer were sent to the Baptist Orphan's Home, Louisville, yesterday. Col. Ashley Owens was up from Livingston a few days since. Judge McClure has been on the sick list again; a relapse of grip.

—The census of 1890 shows Mt. Vernon and vicinity to be the healthiest point in America, its death rate being smaller than any other place shown by the census; in fact, it showed up so small in the enumerator's report that the papers were returned twice from Washington for correction. The report went back as it came. It needed no change. It was correct.

—The stone from the new quarry, which Dr. Lovell is opening near this place, is pronounced by an expert to be first-class and is of the magnesia variety, which works easily and hardens after being exposed to the atmosphere for awhile. Only a small force is employed now, but they have nearly a car load of nicely dressed product ready for shipment.

—F. L. Thompson has been appointed secretary to the town board of trustees. S. M. Burton is in from Missouri, where he has been for the last ten years. Ed Cox has a clerkship in the new store of H. W. Rice & Co., successors to D. C. Poynter. J. W. Nesbitt, who has been laid up with the prevailing disease for several weeks, is out again. Mrs. D. N. Williams is improving. Dr. Peyton was here Tuesday. Charley Higgins is with us.

—Mrs. Ab Burk, who was shot and dangerously wounded Monday near Martsburg, by Bill Newcum, is not expected to live. We have been unable to learn the particulars of the unfortunate affair. It appears that Newcum and his wife have been having trouble. She took the children Sunday over to Mrs. Burk's, a sister. Newcum went over Monday and brought one of the children back. Mrs. Burk followed. When the house was reached trouble came up. Newcum used a gun. Mrs. Burk received a full charge from the weapon, which was loaded with shot or slugs, under the left shoulder. The doctors think she can not recover. Newcum is in jail. He claims Mrs. B. was after him with a pistol.

California—the Land of Sunshine, Fruit and Flowers.

The Midwinter Exposition, already much talked of, bids fair to rival the great fair that has just closed at Chicago. Not in size, perhaps, but certainly so in originality, in richness, and in delighted visitors, who will unanimously agree that the Pacific Coast is worth many times the time and money spent to visit it, in its return of delightful climate, mellow sunlight, wondrous growth of vegetation, and the heretofore unheard of network of industries connected with fruit raising, and the shipping of the product. In order to give an opportunity for everybody to visit this wonderful land during the Exposition, California rates via the Queen & Crescent route have been reduced, and every one may find the cost of such a trip within his means. As for equipment, it is the only line by which you can travel from Cincinnati to San Francisco, absolutely without change. Tourist sleeping cars run every two weeks through from Cincinnati to San Francisco. Solid vestibuled trains twice a day from Cincinnati to New Orleans, where connection is made with through trains and Pullman sleepers daily to California points. Through car service to either New Orleans or Shreveport, making direct connection for Texas, Mexico and California. From Louisville through trains make direct connection at Lexington with solid vestibuled service to New Orleans. Send to us for further particulars. HAT DEADLY ENEMY.

A FAMOUS AUTHOR SAYS THE BUCK-WHEAT CAKE IS ABOMINABLE.

A Breezy Attack Upon Injudicious Diet.
Did Satan Put the Frying Pan Into Hands of the Young Housekeeper?
Breeders of Confirmed Dyspepsia.

(Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.)

BY THE abominable buckwheat cake I mean to express all forms of injudicious diet, of which I think hot griddle cakes
stand in the front rank.
Is it not extraordinary how little people ever seem to consider what is best to feed their children with, what will make best bone and muscle, best blood, produce greatest vitality? The farmer studies what will produce these results with his cattle, but for his family there seems to be but one standard—they all eat "what tastes good."

All indigestible things that can be concocted—pies, doughnuts, hot breads and cakes, pickles, sweetmeats, nuts, strong tea and coffee—enter into the daily diet of the prosperous American farmer or mechanic. Sugar, eggs, butter, coffee and tea, luxuries that the prosperous farmer or mechanic of other lands deals out to his household with a sparing hand, or denotes them altogether, here are no longer regarded as luxuries, but as necessities.
It is entirely a matter of education and of prejudice, and one is surprised to find that the farmers and the mechanics draw the line of their economies at fresh meat. There is no rational explanation of the fact that, while there is not any limit set to the supply allowed of butter and eggs and sugar and coffee, it is considered a distinct extravagance to indulge in fresh meat.

"Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute!" millions for dessert, but not one cent for beef and mutton. Far be it from me to counsel any one to extravagance, but I think, if the estimate were made, it would be found that the amount spent for horrid pies and puddings and murderous hot cakes and si-rups in any ordinary family would supply the same family liberally with meats from the butcher and chickens from the farm. Overnutrition is the curse of our population. They are not underfed, but they are ill-fed. They want coarser food, less salt meat and more fresh meat, fewer sweets and more fruits. Oatmeal, hominy, wheaten grits and, above all,
"graham" bread, with plenty of milk and with good meat, would make the children pictures of rosy health and save the tired, sorrowful mother from the sick-bed, the lunatic asylum or the grave.

It is sad that as a nation we don't know how to cook. The frying pan and the baking powder, Satan has put into the hands of the young housekeeper. He has also made the piano and the sewing machine of more interest to her than the oven and the broiling iron. The children wear clothes out of Harper's Bazar and eat food that contributes neither to their health nor beauty. Hot breads and sweets actually burn up the stomach.
The power to digest decreases as the years go on, and by the time the child is grown it is a confirmed dyspeptic. In no other land are children allowed sweets as they are here.

There are unnumbered ways in which indigestion affects one. It is not necessary to have pain, to feel a weight of lead. More often a stomach that refuses to assimilate the food put into it expresses its revolt by a feeling of excessive weakness. The poor, jaded beast can't go any farther; it wants to lie down and rest. Then the driver whips it up, gives it a tonic or more food, and it struggles on a little farther, and finally breaks down and goes to the wall. It is foolish to think that that sense of weakness comes from a want of food. It comes from too much food, too rich, too concentrated, too nutritious.

Why, what an outrage we are putting upon nature in giving it such quintessence of nourishment. If the human body yielded to the efforts of man to improve upon nature, it would grow up into the sky. But instead it has been growing smaller and smaller as the centuries have passed, showing that nature had better have been trusted to feed what she had brought forth. At this moment the healthiest nations of the world, I believe, are those who live the simplest lives and eat the coarsest food
under the open dome of heaven.

Horses are fonder of overfeeding.
Human beings are as much injured by
it. Take an ordinary farmer's breakfast—the coffee, the ham and eggs, the hot cakes and sirup, the pickles, perhaps the doughnuts. Now, these things are very nourishing, all of them—very stimulating, some of them. There is nothing of the "waste" needed for healthy digestion. Everything is concentrated. You are burning your stomach up; you are giving it too much to do. If you are a strong man and are going out into the cold air to active exercise, you may manage to live through it, but if you are a delicate woman, obliged to work all day in a hot, close room, 10 to 1 you don't get on with it, but find yourself ill with a headache and unable to eat another meal that day.

A simple breakfast of oatmeal and milk, an egg and some graham bread would be a burden that your digestion could carry, and that could be assimilated by ordinary powers. If people would only be induced to make the experiment, they would realize that habit makes them want rich food and that in a short time the desire would pass away,

and simple food would give as much pleasure in the eating and would leave them with honest appetites for every meal. All that you do not assimilate is so much injury to the system, and I defy any set of digestive organs to assimilate hot bread, sirup, pickles, fat pork and tough doughnuts at an early morning meal.

Those who live through such a diet live in spite of it, not in consequence of it. They must have iron powers within.
They would be giants and sons of Hercules if they used a reasonable diet, and would be heads and shoulders above their brethren both in strength and size.
When men are in training for athletic contests, you know the diet they are put upon. Bread and meat, a few vegetables, no sweets, no liquors, no cigars. I really should think it would pay a young fellow to make the best of himself at such a little sacrifice. It must be such a pleasure to be alive when one is in thoroughly fine trim—every wheel and axle of that splendid machine, the human body, in perfect working order.

Miriam Olive Harris
AN AMATEUR SAMARITAN.

What Her One Visit to a Poor Family
Taught Her.

She was a society girl, frivolous, dainty, spoiled. She fell in love with the new curate, and often as he sipped tea in the drowsy, violet-scented air of her drawing room he talked to her of her duties to the poor. She was touched.
She began to talk of having a mission,
of feeling herself fitted for higher things than fashion afforded. She began to wear black and walk with her eyes lowered.

At last she was attracted to help a poor family on Avenue A.

Secretly she set out on a bright December morning, marmalade in a small monogrammed bag, her heart beating fast, but a comfortable feeling surging through her that the world was a little better for her having been born.

The smells on Avenue A upset her a little, and with inward qualms she regretted that she had forgotten her vinaigrette.
But she went boldly on, feeling more and more noble as she grew ill and white.

At last she reached her destination.
It was a dark, ill smelling tenement. On the doorstep, where she was the cynosure of a group of hapless youngsters, she wavered.

What lay beyond that reeking darkness? And for the first time she began to wonder what these people were like she was going to visit. She became aware that she was about to invade their privacy with nothing more material for their aid than some marmalade. Afterward, of course, if she found them "deserving," she intended to send provisions and coal. But how would they stand the ordeal that would test their worthiness, without which possession they might (according to the curate's ethics of charity) starve at pleasure?

She dashed in wildly, groping her way along by passing her daintily gloved hands over the damp walls. Oh, how far away home seemed, the curate, her blue and white bonnet, her pet dog—everything! She felt in a maze of horror until at last she saw a gleam of light through the transom of a door.

Without pausing to question if this were her destination, she knocked. The door was opened promptly, and before her terrified eyes stood a brawny, shirt sleeved, shock-headed individual.

"I want to see Mrs. S.," she faltered.

He eyed her.
"I know ye. Yer wan of thim tract givin, starvation faced lady visitors to the poor, ain't ye? Much good ye do thim, ma'am. The poor don't want ye, nor the likes of ye, to teach them to be God fearin'—it's food they want and fire, ma'am. Yis! What have ye in that bag? Let me see. Ah, jelly an' a Bible, as I thought. Lave thim both behind ye next time, ma'am, for we haven't heart fer the wan, nor stomach for the other. Now go—go, I say, before I set the dog on ye!"

And the society girl departed. It didn't matter that, as she learned afterward, she had been interviewed by the wrong person. She took the shock headed man's remarks seriously to heart, despite the curate's philosophy, and when she went again to Avenue A she was accompanied by a maid, who carried a hamper of good food to the needy family. Moreover, while she talked to poor, hollow cheeked Mrs. S. and held the baby, she heard from below the rasping of the shovels that poured in the coal she had sent.

"You see, Molly," she said to her chum
next day, "I think it's better to feed them when they're hungry, whatever their deserts, and rouse them to help themselves afterward. My one visit taught me that." KATE JORDAN.

Points Worth Noting.
Don't fail to move about at an evening party. Airy commonplaces are in order, and nothing is more hopeless to a hostess than the woman who settles heavily on one particular seat and waits for others to entertain her.

Don't forget to give a religious attention to the care of your teeth. That woman who from carelessness lets her teeth decay and fills her mouth at last with the necessary barbarism known as a "false set" crucifies beauty. Nothing so changes the expression of a face.

Women always show more taste in adorning others than themselves, and the reason is that their persons are like their hearts—they read another's better than can their own.—Jean Paul.

Woman is like the reed which bends to every breeze, but breaks not in the tempest.—Whately.

Woman's function is a guiding, not a determining, one.—Ruskin.

Woman, last at the cross and earliest at the grave.—E. S. Barrett.

LINCOLN AND DORSET MERINO SHEEP.

These Are Good Sheep For Eastern Breeders to Raise.

The ewe in our first illustration is a good specimen of the Lincoln sheep, which is the heaviest bodied and heaviest wooled breed known to civilized man.
The Lincoln belongs to the long woolled family. The wool is often nine inches long and very lustrous and valuable.

The Lincolns thrive best on rich low-land soil protected from extremes of weather. In Canada more attention has been paid to their rearing than in the United States, consequently Canada carried off the prize for Lincolns at the World's fair. These animals are so large that 2-year-old rams weigh over 400 pounds. One of those at the Columbia exposition weighed 415 pounds. This breed fattens for market somewhat slowly, but one 14-month-old lamb has been known to yield 264 pounds of wool.

LINCOLN EWE.

Here is the sheep for the small land owner who follows intensive farming.
The Lincoln is white faced and hornless,
having a broad, square, low built body.

A writer in the Rural New Yorker has been making the experiment of crossing grade Merino ewes with Dorset rams.
He believes the thing will be a great go.
He says the problem that now confronts Merino growers is that of grading their

DORSET MERINO LAMB.

Merino ewes into something better for mutton. He considers the Merino and Horned Dorset as kindred breeds originally and therefore they will blend successfully and profitably.

Mr. Wing advises in The Dorset Quarterly breeding Merino ewes to Dorset rams and having the lambs come as early as possible. Save the best of the ewe lambs resulting and breed them
when a year old to a pure bred Dorset sire. The lambs thus produced will be about three-quarters Dorset. Mr. Wing weighed one of these three-quarter lambs when it was 4 months old and it tipped the beam at 80 pounds. He says the Dorset-Merino cross produces "most remarkable fleeces," and that the Dorset wool itself commands the top market price.

Horse Talk.

Don't ask me to "back" with blinds on.
I am afraid to.

Don't lend me to some blockhead that has less sense than I have.

Don't think because I am a horse that iron weeds and briars won't hurt my hay.

Don't be so careless of my harness as to find a great sore on me before you attend to it.

Don't run me down a steep hill, for if anything should give way I might break your neck.

Don't whip me when I get frightened along the road, or I will expect it next time and maybe make trouble.

Don't think because I go free under the whip I don't get tired. You would move up if under the whip.

Don't put my blind bridle so that it irritates my eyes or so leave my forelock that it will be in my eyes.

Don't hitch me to an iron post or railing when the mercury is below freezing.
I need the skin on my tongue.

Don't keep my stable very dark, for when I go into the light my eyes are injured, especially if snow is on the ground.

Don't leave me hitched in my stall all night with a big cob right where I must lie down. I am tired and can't select a smooth place.

Don't forget to file my teeth when they are gagged and I cannot chew my food.
When I get lean, it is a sign my teeth
want filing.

Don't make me drink ice cold water or put a frosty bit in my mouth. Warm the bit by holding a half minute against my body.

Don't compel me to eat more salt than I want by mixing it with my oats. I know better than any other animal how much I need.

Don't say whoa unless you mean it.
Teach me to stop at the word. It may check me if the lines break and save a runaway or smashup.

Don't trot me up hill, for I have to carry you and the buggy and myself too.
Try it yourself some times. Run up hill with a big load.—Exchange.

No man who cannot keep his temper should ever go near a horse. He will ruin the horse and perhaps get himself kicked to death. No man who cannot keep his temper should ever go near a cow. He will dry up the cow and make her wild and vicious. No man who cannot control his temper should ever go anywhere. Furthermore, nobody wants him at home.

PERSONAL POINTS.

CLARENCE TATE is quite sick. Mr. W. F. Ramsey, of Lexington, is here on business.

Miss NANNIE BROWN, of the West End, visited relatives here this week.

Miss MARY ALICE CAMPBELL, of Shelby, City, is visiting Miss Lola Burks.

JUDGE J. B. DENNIS, the clever drummer, was with our merchants here yesterday.

Miss MARY JEWETT, an accomplished young lady, of Celina, O., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. R. Alford.

The lovely Miss Ella McElwain, of Franklin, arrived yesterday to visit Misses Maggie and Linda Oweley.

Mr. JACK BOSLEY, who has been down with the grip since the holidays, is now able to sit around his room.

Mrs. MATTIE SWEENEY, of Lancaster, passed through to Columbia yesterday. Mrs. Blanche Sweeney accompanied her this far.

Mrs. JENNIE CARPENTER, Miss Sallie Cook and Messrs. C. C. Carpenter and Moses Cook, of the West End, were here yesterday.

Mr. CHARLES J. CURD, of Williamsburg, is learning how to put prescriptions under Dr. J. S. Wells in McRoberts' drug store.

Messrs. TOM YRAGER, Joe Deckelmeier and Charley Cox are the latest additions to the Uniformed Stanford Gold Band, which is rehearsing regularly.

J. H. DEITRICH, the clever agent for the Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, was here this week and renewed the ad. of his excellent remedies for another year.

HON. JOHN SAM OWSELEY, Sr., has returned from Atlanta, where he took a car load of mules. He only sold a few at very low prices and had to leave the rest with a commission house.

Mr. B. G. BOYLE, the energetic business manager of the Danville Advocate, drove up with Mr. A. H. Cunningham, of the Chatfield & Woods Paper Co., and made us a pleasant call, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. LEE F. HUFFMAN, formerly Miss Kate Williams, the noted Kentucky singer, spent a few days at Madison Female Institute last week visiting her sister, Miss Dolly Williams.—Richmond Climax.

Miss ADA SUTTON writes us that she has been appointed a notary public, an unusual office for a woman to hold. Since her location at Pineville she has increased her reputation as a rapid and correct stenographer and typist, and has been highly complimented by the lawyers for the successful manner in which she has taken the testimony in a number of important cases.

CITY AND VICINITY.

DANKS, the people's Jeweler.

A NICE 4-room cottage for rent. J. S. Hughes.

HEATING stoves at cost at W. H. Wear and Co.'s.

Your account is ready for you. Call and settle. McKinney & Hocker.

REMEMBER when you want anything in the jewelry line, go to Danks.

DRINK "Padung Java" coffee; something new. McKinney & Hocker.

YOUR account will be ready January 1st. Call and settle. A. R. Penny.

YOUR account is copied and do not delay paying it. W. H. Wear and Co.

REMEMBER that M. F. Elkin pays the highest cash price for hides and all kinds of fur.

WANTED.—Old style brass candlesticks. Must be in good order. Danks, the Jeweler.

FOR RENT.—My house on upper Main. Mrs. Kate Hays. Apply to Reuben Williams.

J. B. ADAMS bought in Pulaski a lot of butcher cattle at 2c. and three 2-year old cattle at 3c.

WANTED a position by a smart, capable young man, 18 years of age. Address "Hustler" Stanford, Ky.

MONEY to loan on blue grass farms at 6 per cent. J. W. Hennings Sons, Room 19 Kenyon Bldg. Louisville.

PATRIOTS with commissions as long as your arm as storekeepers and gaugers sadly wander about waiting for assignments, that never come. Verily many are called to serve their country, but few are chosen.

SMALL-POX.—A report is current here that there are nine cases of small-pox at Danville, but it is no doubt originated in the fact that the authorities are taking precautions against the approach of the loathsome disease.

DIAMONDS at Danks, the jeweler.

Mrs. SLAUGHTER writes us that the Crab Orchard local option election will not be postponed.

WILL HOWARD will be hung by the neck at Vienna, Mo., to-day, until he is dead, dead dead, and may God have mercy on his murderous soul.

DR. J. S. APPLEMAN finding that his practice would be attended with much harassing litigation, has decided to leave the State and will not return to Stanford again.

FOR SALE OR RENT.—My desirable property on the corner of Main and Mill Streets and adjoining Mrs. Mollie Gray's will give a bargain in either case. Mrs. Mary Matheny.

LEON, the scene painter who wrecked the life of Miss Mary Craig, is wanted in Jacksonville, Fla., where he married Miss Carrie Davis. It is now known that he has five living wives.

WM. SOWARDS, adjuster for the Phoenix, of Hartford, was here yesterday to see about Tilford Messer's loss of hay and barn. He did not pay the loss but Local Agent Tribble says he will do so soon.

The post office at Somerset is agitating the elect. Mrs. Tarter's term expired some time ago. Senator Lindsay is said to be backing J. E. Claunch, Black burn is for Capt. S. M. Boone, while Gov. McCreary endorses W. H. Waddle. The office pays $1,800 a year.

It is reported that four of the candidates for jailer have decided that their chances are not bright enough to put up the entrance fee of $8 and will not ante up the stuff. As they have not ordered their announcements discontinued, we will not give their names.

GENTLE spring time never brought a lovelier, balmy day than Wednesday, though it was the dead of mid winter time. It was absolutely beyond compare. Yesterday was warm and showery. The predictions for Friday are fair, with moderate cold wave.

The absurdity of some of the prohibition laws is shown in the statement that a Wayne county farmer saved a boy from drowning, and fearing the ducking might make him sick gave the boy a drink of whisky. He was indicted and fined $10 for giving liquor to a minor.

NONE of the hands on the four dials of the court-house clock point to the same hour and no one can be sure of the time till it strikes. As it is the clock is a useless expense. Can't the county judge whose duty it is to see after the time piece, see that the trouble is remedied?

The anti-whisky men seem to intend to carry the war into Africa. They will, we learn, attempt to prevent the renewal of the licenses in Stanford by presenting petitions signed by a majority of the voters living in the prescribed area, in which case, the judge will have to refuse further license.

The next lecturer to appear in the course is Dr. James Hedley, who was with us last season and give so much satisfaction. He will be here Monday evening, Jan. 29. It is said of the doctor that he has no equal on the lecture platform and many who heard him last year agree that the praise is not too high.

DIED OF HIS INJURIES.—A few weeks ago, Wm. Lanahan, better known as Billy Irish, went to Livingston to visit his daughter. While there he fell off of the high foot bridge over the river and striking the rocks below sustained injuries that finally proved fatal. He was the clever old gentleman, who for many years had charge of the sand drying house at Rowland.

MR. J. B. PAXTON is announced in this issue as a candidate for the democratic nomination for county attorney, a position he has filled so acceptably and so satisfactorily that he has by common consent been awarded a walk-over so far as his party is concerned. Mr. Paxton has made no noise and flourished no trumpets, but he has made the county one of the best officers she has ever had. He has earned the plaudits of his constituency and is entitled to the honor of an unanimous re-election.

KILLING AT JUNCTION CITY.—Hearing that a man had been killed at Junction City yesterday, we telegraphed Capt. Thomas Richards to wire us the particulars, which he did as follows: John Drye was shot and instantly killed by Jason Blackerty this morning. The negro made the attack by firing two or three shots first. Blackerty had the man arrested for knocking him down with intent to rob him last night and was out on bond, when he commenced the attack.

A SHORT time ago, Mrs. Annie Ends, succeeded through her attorney, the "Hon." Josh Dye, in securing arrears of pension to the amount of $2,432.20. She had always taken care of herself before, but so soon as so much money came in sight her family felt great solicitude about her and her ability to handle it. Accordingly, her daughter Mrs. John Spratt, appealed to Judge Varnon to have a trustee appointed for her and the case was tried before a jury Wednesday, which decided that the old woman was not capable to handle the funds advantageously. An appeal will be taken.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Two romantic San Francisco souls hired a steam launch to take them and a minister several miles out on the Pacific where their matrimonial bark was launched.

—Joseph Maxey, who is but 18, and Miss Fannie Moore, just 14, were permitted by their parents to marry, Tuesday, instead of being switched and put to sleep in separate beds.

—Rev. T. W. Watts, the M. E. church, south, pastor of Maysville, and Miss Rosa V. Fitch will be married at the home of the bride's father, Rev. J. W. Fitch, in Winchester on the 31st.

—By the marriage of George Ray and Mrs. Lucas, at Deputy, Ind., Mrs. Lucas became her daughter's daughter-in-law, and George Ray is now the father-in-law of his own father. Can you tell how?

—In Iowa a Mr. Corn was married to a Miss Wheat. At the wedding ceremony the choir sang, "What Shall the Harvest Be?" A gamin in the gallery yelled out "naubine!" and they fired him out of the synagogue.

—Rev. Simon Roundtree, a colored Baptist preacher, of Lincoln, Neb., although 99 years old, thinks matrimony is far from a failure. He has recently married for the eighth time. The latest Mrs. Roundtree is 44 years his junior.

—Dr. Frank Lord, of Canada, and Miss Moyer, a Louisville seamstress, were married under rather sensational circumstances. He has been studying at the Louisville Medical College, and he and Miss Moyer have been boarding at the same house. He became a victim of typhoid fever, and for some time was at the point of death. Miss Moyer disregarded conventionalities and offered to nurse him. Dr. Cheatham, who was attending the invalid, insisted that he must go to a hospital. Dr. Lord asked if it would be all right for his wife to nurse him. Dr. Cheatham said yes, if he had one. Dr. Lord then proposed to Miss Moyer, was accepted and Rev. S. S. Waltz was sent for at once and the marriage service performed.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Our Lancaster letter announces the death of Hiram Hlatt, which occurred yesterday morning.

—Captain A. C. Babcock, a prominent Mason and the founder of the Masonic home at Richmond, Va., died at that place Tuesday.

—Mrs. Susan Cook died of heart disease at Danville Monday night, aged about 78. She was the widow of the late Allen Cook, brother of Rev. Strother Cook, Sr., Mrs. Betsy Nevius and Mrs. Evan Waters. She was a faithful and useful member of the Danville Baptist church, loved by all for her many noble traits of character. She leaves one child, Mrs. Emma Terhune, with whom she had been living since her husband's death about nine years ago. After a funeral sermon by Rev. J. W. Lynch her remains were laid to rest in the Danville cemetery Wednesday.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rabbi Farher after working his people at Atlanta for all he could, skipped out, leaving them to mourn his loss and that of much money.

—At Wellman, Ind., saloon-keeper Wilson became converted during a protracted meeting and inviting his friends burned his whiskies and bar-fixtures.

—In 1859 there was not a convert in Japan. In 1884 there were nearly 7,000. In 1859 there were no copies of the Bible, but in 1883 57,593 parts of the Bible and 20,368 Bibles or Testaments were distributed.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—P. W. Green bought of Smith Baughman a 4 year-old filly for $200. —It only costs four mills a pound to transport pork from Chicago to Liverpool.

—Gentry Bros., of Boyle, bought of West End parties, 12 aged mules at $75 to $90.

—The Minneapolis flour output in 1893 will reach 9,200,000 barrels. The output of the Duluth mills 1,607,616 barrels.

—At Mt. Sterling best cattle brought 34 to 34. About 800 were offered. The same prices prevailed at Georgetown with a dull market.

—Theodore Powell has rented the J. Q. Montgomery farm on the Milledgeville pike for this year and will move to it. "Ban" Gaines will run the old Smith farm Mr. Powell vacated.

—A good crowd attended Mr. James Dudderar's sale yesterday and live stock brought good prices. Fancy saddle mare brought $151; work horses $40 to $60; milk cows $25 to $30 and sows and pigs $19 to $40. The mules were sold privately.

—J. F. Barbee, of Bourbon, took the premium at Atlanta on his pair of bronze turkeys. The gobblers weighed 41 and the hen 22 1/2 pounds. A young pair weighed 34 and 19 pounds respectively.

—The number of bushels of grain being mashed daily by the Kentucky distilleries at present in operation aggregates 20,389 bushels, as against 63,523 bushels for the same time a year ago.

—For the first time in the history of the country, the average price of potatoes has exceeded the price of wheat. Last year the average price of potatoes was 60 cents while that of wheat was a little over 53 cents.

—The first movement in the way of direct trade with Europe from the West through Charleston, S. C., was made Monday, when a consignment of 2,000 sacks of flour was booked from Nashville, Tenn., on the steamship Rosshire, loading there, for Liverpool.

—Cattle kings of Montana, at their annual meeting at Helena, offered 3,000 two year old steers, valued at $50 a head, to have the Corbett-Mitchell mill come off at Helena. In two years the steers would be worth about $135,000 their present value being $90,000.

—The Duval Athletic Club issued a card announcing positively that the Corbett-Mitchell fight will take place on January 25. It is further announced that should any emergency arise the club is prepared to handle 6,000 people, by which it is understood the pugilist intend to fight in the woods. The governor of Florida says they shall not fight in that State.

—Owing to the high railroad rates the Spreckles Sugar Company, of San Francisco, has signed contracts with a steamship line providing for the transportation to New York via Cape Horn of about 50,000 tons of raw sugar.

—The World's Fair commission wants Congress to give it $42,500 to complete the work required by the act creating it.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at A. R. Penny's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.

FLORAL CURIOSITIES.
Few people would want to pay $2,000 for 32 violet plants. Yet that is what a local florist sold that many roots for, and he does not think he was overpaid either. As may be supposed, the violets are curiosities.
They are the outcome of years of patient hybridizing. Only violets of one gender grow on a plant. This renders them capable of being experimented with successfully. The big, bold double violet is the male flower.
The demure single blossom is the female. From the double flower the pollen is carefully cut and placed in the cup of the single blossom. Only one blossom in 100 of those artificially treated will produce seed. This seed is then planted, and the resultant violet is again hybridized with some other remarkable specimen.
Sometimes odd colors are obtained. Sometimes odd form. A year ago a local nurseryman produced a violet giant. It was four times larger than the ordinary flower and grew on a stem from 12 to 15 inches long. The plant on which these remarkable blossoms grew sprang up from one of the seeds resulting from a long series of hybridizing. It was subdivided, and now there are 32 plants.
These were purchased a few days ago by a city florist for $2,000. An iron bound contract prevents the propagator from giving away, selling or keeping a single rootlet. A nursery will be started in a neighboring county to be devoted to multiplying the peculiar plant. None of the plants or blossoms will be sold for two years, by which time the 32 roots will have grown to four or five millions. The violet has been named the Tiburcio parrot, after the well known capitalist.—San Francisco Chronicle.

FARM KETTLE.
The out of doors. Such a kettle should be protected from the weather, for if it is not the kettle is soon rusted, and the bricks become loosened by the entrance of water from the top. A good protection is shown in the illustration. The corner uprights are secured to the brick-work by iron straps, one side and the front of the wooden structure being hinged at the top, allowing free access to the kettle. This useful contrivance will be more convenient if the top of the structure in which the kettle is set be of one complete slab of stone, slate or soapstone, but this is not at all necessary.—American Agriculturist.

Preparing Poultry for Market.
Poultry—Poultry should be kept from food 24 hours before killing.
Chickens—Kill by bleeding in the roof of the mouth or veins of the neck; leave head and feet on; do not draw crop or intestines. For scalding use water just below the boiling point; pick neck and legs while dry; hold by head and legs and dip three times. By avoiding scalding the head and legs the fowl will present a much better appearance. When the comb has been dipped in water, it turns bluish red, which hurts the sale. Remove the feathers and pin feathers immediately and be careful to avoid breaking the skin; then plump by dipping 10 seconds into water just under boiling point and then into cold water for 10 minutes. Hang in cool place until the animal heat is entirely out. In dry picking carefully and rapidly remove all feathers while the chicken is yet warm and bleeding, being careful as before about breaking the skin.
Turkeys—Observe the same rule about feeding and killing as chickens, but dry pick while the turkey is bleeding. Never wait until the body is cool; remove all the feathers from the wings, leaving head and feet on; do not draw entrails or crop; throw out all the scallaws, feed them up and do not kill until the season is well advanced, and then scald and plump the same as chickens. They bring better prices than if dry picked.
Ducks and Geese—Observe the same directions as given in the scalding of chickens, leaving them in the water longer, however, to loosen the feathers. Both ducks and geese always sell best scalded, although we receive numerous consignments of dry picked stock. Never dry pick just before killing, as it gives the skin an unfavorable appearance and is an injury to the sale and a very cruel treatment to the bird.
Directions For Packing—Pack in boxes or barrels lined with clean paper. Keep the body and legs straightened out, as it adds to the appearance when opened for sale. If possible, put only one kind in a box. Poultry frozen will not command as good a price as that which is not. Old and heavy tom turkeys should be marketed before the holidays, as later the demand is for fat hen turkeys only.
Game must not be drawn except in warm weather, and then ice should be used. Geese, wild turkeys and ducks should be packed in their natural state. Partridge, grouse (prairie chickens), woodcock and quail arrive in better order and sell better when wrapped in paper.—Exchange.

Dehorn.
Last winter my brother and I dehorned our cattle for feeding and for shipping off pasture. We sold for better prices than any one else in this section, because our cattle took on flesh better. They looked smoother, there being no rough horns to disfigure them. The roughest looking horned animal looks smooth and nice after being dehorned. It takes less shelter for them and less feed to fatten. They become perfectly harmless when turned with any other stock, there being no danger of them goring other animals. It renders them more docile and changes their disposition altogether.
I will never winter another animal with horns on. Many of my neighbors watched the results of our dehorning with interest last winter, and now many of them are falling in line and dehorning this winter. I have dehorned quite a lot of cattle this season and will dehorn many more. I use a draw cut knife. I consider it the best knife I ever saw. I prefer it to the saw or any shear cut knife, for with the latter there is danger of fracturing the horn or skull, thereby causing it to be longer in healing over. The saw makes the work too slow. I can dehorn a spring calf or an animal 12 years old with good results. It is best to dehorn cattle while young, since the horns are easier cut and will heal up much quicker. I dehorned some cows last week, within two months of dropping their offspring, with no bad effects. It does not materially decrease the flow of milk in fresh cows to dehorn them. I am a common farmer, and the above is my own actual experience without any exaggeration.—S. D. Whitener in St. Louis Journal of Agriculture.

Transformation of Japan.
Their railways, of which 1,750 miles are now open, are well constructed and well regulated, and the first homemade locomotive was built in Japan last January. The post and telegraph system leaves nothing to be desired. The Nippon Yusen Kaisha (Japanese Steamship company), which owns 47 ships running to Chinese and other ports and carries a large trade, now intends to enlarge its operations by starting a first class line for passengers and cargo to Sydney and Melbourne. As the present service is excellent and the accommodation good, there is every reason to anticipate success for this new development. Coal mines are being rapidly opened up, and the production of iron is steadily increasing. The manufacture of cotton fabrics is sixfold what it was eight years ago, and cheap labor enables Japan to be a formidable competitor with England in the markets of the east.—Countess of Jersey in United Service Magazine.

Boston's Bells.
Miss Charlotte W. Hawes, the musical composer, is making an effort to have the noted bells of Boston put in order and rung in the interest of the musical education of the people. The chime of bells in the tower of Christ church, Salem street, is a fine one and was presented to the church by the citizens of London in 1744. These bells were formerly rung in the old English fashion, and when General Lafayette visited Boston in 1824 the city had the bells put in order, and they rang out a royal musical welcome to the noted Frenchman. They were rung by eight old bellringers for some years after this event; then the old method was abandoned, and the plan of one man ringing the tune over was adopted. Miss Hawes has undertaken the revival of the old English fashion of bell ringing, such as prevails in London. Miss Hawes is assisted in her patriotic work by many leading residents of Boston.—Boston Advertiser.

She Got a Pass.
Mayor Joe Rhinock of Covington the other evening related to his friends an amusing adventure of the day before. A colored woman, burdened with a lusty, squalling baby, called at his office.
"Am dis de mayor?" she wanted to know.
"I am," responded the chief executive.
"Den jest you sit down and write me a pass to Pruitts, Ky," she ordered, without any palpable waste of words.
His honor explained that this was not one of his prerogatives and that her request would have to be laid before the chairman of the council relief committee.
"It does, eh?" asked madam. "Tze got to catch dat 2 o'clock train. Gimme dat pass, or I leave de baby!" She made a motion to drop the pikaninny into Mr. Rhinock's lap. That settled the argument. She got the pass.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

New Danger in Cards.
The London Globe says that the microbe threatens the enjoyment if not the very existence of many old customs and pastimes, for instance, card playing. Dr. Rappin, a distinguished specialist of Nantes, is investigating the bacteriology of cards. Working on cards played by patients (consumptive and other) at the hospital of Nantes, he found no less than 6,160 bacteria on a square centimeter of the card, most of which were the potato bacillus. On cards used in public cafes and in private families he has found the staphylococcus pyogenes aureus, one of the agents in suppuration. He recommends people to be careful of contamination when playing cards, especially with consumptive persons.—London Globe.

Lady Lytton.
Among the most able lady journalists of the day in London is Lady Constance Lytton. She inherits her literary qualities, as her father was the late earl of Lytton, formerly viceroy of India, and afterward English ambassador in Paris. It seems the young lady, who is only 25 years old, was editor of the amateur newspaper which the earl started in his family for their amusement and for amateurs. She has rapidly developed into a professional journalist of high qualifications.—Liverpool Mercury.

Floral Curiosities.
Few people would want to pay $2,000 for 32 violet plants. Yet that is what a local florist sold that many roots for, and he does not think he was overpaid either. As may be supposed, the violets are curiosities.
They are the outcome of years of patient hybridizing. Only violets of one gender grow on a plant. This renders them capable of being experimented with successfully. The big, bold double violet is the male flower.
The demure single blossom is the female. From the double flower the pollen is carefully cut and placed in the cup of the single blossom. Only one blossom in 100 of those artificially treated will produce seed. This seed is then planted, and the resultant violet is again hybridized with some other remarkable specimen.
Sometimes odd colors are obtained. Sometimes odd form. A year ago a local nurseryman produced a violet giant. It was four times larger than the ordinary flower and grew on a stem from 12 to 15 inches long. The plant on which these remarkable blossoms grew sprang up from one of the seeds resulting from a long series of hybridizing. It was subdivided, and now there are 32 plants.
These were purchased a few days ago by a city florist for $2,000. An iron bound contract prevents the propagator from giving away, selling or keeping a single rootlet. A nursery will be started in a neighboring county to be devoted to multiplying the peculiar plant. None of the plants or blossoms will be sold for two years, by which time the 32 roots will have grown to four or five millions. The violet has been named the Tiburcio parrot, after the well known capitalist.—San Francisco Chronicle.

There is a good reason for the popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Davis & Bland, of West Monterey, Clarion Co., Pa., says: "It has cured people that our physicians could do nothing for. We persuaded them to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and they now recommend it with the rest of us." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker.

Carlton Cornwell, of the Gazette. Middletown, N. J., believes that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy should be in every home. He used it for a cold and it effected a speedy cure. He says, "It is indeed a grand remedy, I can recommend it to all. I have also seen it used for whooping cough with the best results." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker.

Many stubborn and aggravating cases of rheumatism that were believed to be incurable and accepted as life legacies, have yielded to Chamberlain's Pain Balm, much to the surprise and gratification of the sufferers. One application will relieve the pain and suffering and its continued use insures an effectual cure. For sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker.

"You are old, my dear grandma," the little girl said.
As she lay by the fire with Dolly.
"For as white as the snow are the hairs on your head—
Yet you always look rosy and jolly.
"Prove tell me, dear grandma, the reason of this.
Why you always look healthy and sprightly.
Why you never are pale when you give me a kiss.
Why you take such long walks morn and night—
"The reason, my darling," her grandma replied.
"Is simple, it needs no description.
I've always been well, for I keep by my side
